Ready ... Set
READ!

Lodi Public Library
2016 summer library program

Track your summer reading and see how it adds up!

This year, school-aged kids will be grouped to compete against each other and against adult teams. Stop in each week to turn in your reading and check the progress on our challenge board. The groupings will be:

- Primary School and Ouisconsing School of Collaboration (OSC)
- Elementary School
- Middle School and High School students
- All other students (Homeschool, Blessed Trinity, etc.)

Each team will vie for a spot on the podium.

Parents can choose to read with a team of all adults or work as a family to boost the total for their child's team.

Complete at least 5 hours of reading to receive your invitation to the library's SPECIAL super-secret, end-of-summer WATER BATTLE!

On the designated date, each invitee will meet at the library and traverse to the secret water battle location as a group. Earn your invitation by recording reading times!

Parents: you may participate in the water battle if you also have turned in 5 hours of reading!

READING RECORD:

Mark off one symbol for every 15 minutes you spend reading

YAY!! You've read enough for a prize pack— Bring this record to the library to add your time to the tally.

Now ... keep going! How much can you read this summer?

You can record more time on a regular sheet of paper —or stop in the library to get a new log sheet.

Family hiking programs Weekends: Saturdays at 10 am

June 25 — We'll have a program at the library with a visitor from the Ice Age Trail. We'll talk about hiking with families and what's available locally for kid-friendly treks.

July 23 — We'll have a program at the library with the Lodi EMS about outdoor first aid and safety. What's in your emergency pack? Which one is poison ivy? How can you avoid getting hurt and what if it happens anyway?

August 27 — Let's hit the trail! We'll take a one-mile hike with a story walk. Enjoy the unfolding of a good story as you also enjoy the outdoors. Hope for good weather, and meet at the library.
